Peter Agre (left), recipient of the 2003 Nobel Prize in Chemistry, congratulates the newest Nobel Laureate at Johns Hopkins Medicine, Gregg Semenza (right), winner of the 2019 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine

Credit: Will Kirk, Johns Hopkins

Johns Hopkins Medicine scientist Gregg Semenza, winner of the 2019 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine, shares a champagne toast with colleagues

Credit: Will Kirk, Johns Hopkins

A packed auditorium of well-wishers gives a standing ovation to the winner of the 2019 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine, Johns Hopkins Medicine scientist Gregg Semenza

Credit: Will Kirk, Johns Hopkins

Gregg Semenza, Johns Hopkins Medicine scientist, speaks at an event honoring him for receiving the 2019 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine

Credit: Will Kirk, Johns Hopkins