INSTRUCTIONS

This form must be completed and submitted to the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) at the address given above to apply or re-register for a first receiver site license (FRSL). A FRSL authorizes a buyer to receive, purchase, or take custody or control of an IFQ landing at the physical location of the facility given on the license. To complete the application process, any Economic Data Collection surveys due from the FRSL applicant must be deemed complete by the NOAA/Northwest Fisheries Science Center. The applicant must also submit supplemental documentation, described below. A first receiver site license is effective upon approval by NMFS.

Section C – Small Business Certification

In preparing various rulemakings related to the Pacific Coast groundfish and other fisheries, the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) is required to analyze the economic effect of such regulations. As part of the required analyses, NMFS must determine if permit and license owners participating in the fishery are big or small businesses as defined by the Small Business Administration (SBA). NMFS is now using the following standards:

Small businesses. A business involved in the commercial fishing industry is a small business if it:

- Is independently owned and operated AND
- Is not dominant in its field of operation (including affiliates*) AND
- Has combined annual receipts of less than $11 million for all its affiliated operations worldwide

Nonprofit organizations. The Regulatory Flexibility Act defines small organizations as any nonprofit enterprise that is independently owned and operated and is not dominant in its field.

* SBA has established size criteria along with "principles of affiliation" to determine whether a business concern is "independently owned and operated." In general, business concerns are affiliates of each other when one concern controls or has the power to control the other or a third party controls or has the power to control both.

Are you a small business or small organization according to the standards outlined above?

Please check one box.

YES, we are a small business or organization.

NO, we are a big business or organization.

If you have any questions about these standards or the definition of affiliation, please call West Coast Regional Economist Abigail Harley at 206-526-4273.
